Instruction for Question No. 1 to 4: Read the following passages and answer the questions that follow. Your answers to these questions should be based on the passages only.

Passage - 1

Every society, from the beginning of human history, has had some way of preparing young people for adult life. Many communities have regarded education as training for work. In many traditional societies, children still help the older members of the family in their work and so grow up to do the same job as their parents. Elsewhere, young boys used to be sent away for several years as apprentices to a craftsman to learn his trade. In the modern world, however, the main aim of education is to stimulate the child's mind and enable him to develop his personality and abilities to his limits.

- The writer emphasizes that throughout history, in some way or another _____.
 - (a) Young people have chosen different ways of life from those of their parents
 - (b) Boys have managed to avoid work requiring a lot of physical effort
 - (c) Children have been forced to learn different crafts
 - (d) Children have been given education to equip them for future
- 2. The passage gives the idea that in the past, education
 - (a) Was offered only to adults
 - (b) Was generally understood as a means of learning a skill
 - (c) Was strictly confined to the family and environment
 - (d) Did not relate at all to a person's working life
- 3. One can conclude from the given passage that modern education
 - (a) Is a clear continuation of the practices of earlier times

 - (c) Gives more stress on the development of child's mind and character than it used to
 - (d) Puts too much pressure on a child

Passage- 2

The man who is perpetually hesitating for which of the two things he will do first, will do neither. The man who resolves, but suffers his resolution to be changed by the first counter-suggestion of a friend, who fluctuates from opinion to opinion and veers from plan to plan can never accomplish anything. He will at best be stationary and probably retrograde in all. It is only the man who first consults wisely, then resolves firmly and then executes his purpose with inflexible perseverance, undismayed by those petty difficulties which daunt a weaker spirit-that can advance to eminence in any line.

- 4. The keynote that seems to be emerging from the passage is that Instruction for Questions No. 26 to 28: Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow. Your answers to these questions should be based on the passage only.

Dolphins are regarded as the friendliest creatures in the sea and stories of them helping drowning sailors have been common since Roman times. The more we learn about dolphins, the more we realize that their society is more complex than people previously imagined. They look after other dolphins when they are ill, care for pregnant mothers and protect the weakest in the community, as we do. Some scientists have suggested that dolphins have a language but it is much more probable that they communicate with each other without needing words. Could any of these mammals be more intelligent than man? Certainly, the most common argument in favour of man's superiority over them that we can kill them more easily than they can kill us is the least satisfactory. On the contrary, the more we discover about these remarkable creatures, the less we appear superior when we destroy them.

26. It is clear from the passage that dolphins .

- (a) Don't want to be with us as much as we want to be with them
- (b) Are proven to be less intelligent than once thought

 - (a) Means that they are better adapted to their environment than we are
 - (b) Shows that dolphins have a very sophisticated form of communication
 - (c) Proves that dolphins are not the most intelligent species at sea
 - (d) Does not mean we are superior to them
- 28. One can infer from the reading that-
 - (a) Communication is the most fascinating aspect of the dolphins
 - (b) Dolphins' have some social traits that are similar to those of humans
 - (c) Dolphins are quite abundant in some areas of the world
 - (d) Dolphins have skills that no other creatures have such as ability to think

Vacations were once the prerogative of the privileged few, even as late as the nineteenth century. Now they are considered the right of all. They are more necessary now than before because the average life is well rounded and has become increasingly departmentalized. The idea of vacations, as we conceive it, must be incomprehensible to primitive people. Rest of some kind has of course always been a part of the rhythm of human life. But earlier ages did not find it necessary to organize it in the way that modern man has done. Holidays, feast days were sufficient. But with the modern man's increasing tensions, with the useless quality of so much of his work, this break in the year's routine became steadily more necessary. Vacations became necessary for the purpose of renewal and repair.
